

FEATURE OF

TALKS ON NATIONAL EFFICIENCY

Former Chief Executive Declares That Trust Influence Is Largely to Blame for Waste and Destruction of Our Natural Resources—One of Our Greatest Problems Is the Wise and Prompt Development of the Nation's Waterways.

St. Paul, Sept. 6.—The address of Colonel Roosevelt on "National Efficiency" was the feature of the second day's session of the National Conservation congress here. The speech, in part, follows:

"America's reputation for efficiency stands deservedly high throughout the world. We are efficient probably to the full limit that any nation can attain by the methods hitherto used. There is great reason to be proud of our achievements and yet no reason to believe that we cannot excel our past. Through a practically unrestrained individualism we have reached a pitch of literally unexampled material prosperity, although the distribution of this prosperity leaves much to be desired from the standpoint of justice and fair dealing.

"But we have not only allowed the individual a free hand, which was in the main right; we have also allowed great corporations to act as though they were individuals and to exercise the rights of individuals, in addition to using the vast combined power of high organization and enormous wealth for their own advantage.

"This development of corporate action, it is true, is doubtless in large part responsible for the gigantic development of our natural resources, but it is not less responsible for waste, destruction and monopoly on an equally gigantic scale.

Time to Call a Halt.

"The method of reckless and uncontrolled private use and waste has done for us all the good it ever can and it is time to put an end to it before it does all the evil it easily may. We have passed the time when heedless waste and destruction and arrogant monopoly are any longer permissible.

"Henceforth we must seek national efficiency by a new and a better way, by the way of the orderly development and use, coupled with the preservation of our natural resources, by making the most of what we have for the benefit of all of us, instead of leaving the sources of material prosperity open to indiscriminate exploitation.

"These are some of the reasons why it is wise that we should abandon the old point of view and why conservation has become a patriotic duty.

"One of the greatest of our conservation problems is the wise and prompt development and use of the waterways of this nation.

"In nearly every river city from St. Paul to the Gulf the water front is controlled by the railways. Nearly every artificial waterway in the United States, either directly or indirectly, is under the same control.

"It goes without saying that unless the people prevent it in advance the railways will attempt to take control of our waterways as fast as they are improved and completed, nor would I blame them if we, the people, are supine in the matter.

The National Forests.

"The people of the United States believe in the complete and rounded development of inland waterways for all the useful purposes they can be made to serve. They believe also in forest protection and forest extension.

"The fight for our national forests in the West has been won. After a campaign in which the women of Minnesota did work which would secure to them the perpetual gratitude of their state Minnesota won her national forest and will keep it, but the fight to create the Southern Appalachian and White mountain forests in the East is not yet over.

"The bill has passed the house and will come before the senate for a vote next February. The people of the United States regardless of party or section should stand solidly behind it and see that their representatives do likewise.

"The investigations of the country life commission have led the farmers of this country to realize that they have not been getting their fair share of progress and all that it brings. Some of our farming communities in the Mississippi valley and in the Middle West have made marvelous progress, yet even the best of them, like communities of every other kind, are not beyond improvement, while much needs to be done in some other sections to improve country life.

"As yet we know comparatively little of the basic facts of rural civilization. The means for better farming we have studied with care, but to better living on the farm and to better business on the farm the farmers themselves have given scant attention."

Conservation of Human Efficiency.

"As a people we have not yet learned to economize. One of the virtues we Americans most need is thrift. It is a more truism to say that luxury and extravagance are not good for a action. So far as they affect character, the loss they cause may be beyond computation. But in the material sense there is a loss greater than is caused by both extravagance and luxury put together.

"I mean the needless, useless and excessive loss to our people from premature death and avoidable diseases. Wholly apart from the grief the suffering and the wretchedness which they cause, the material loss each year has been calculated at nearly twice what it costs to run the federal government.

"In addition to the state and city health officers and organizations, there is urgently needed a federal bureau of health, to act, so far as the national government properly may, to relieve our people from this dreadful burden."

Colonel Roosevelt then refers to the national conservation commission and incidentally takes a rap at Congressman Tawney for defeating an appropriation intended to carry the programme of the commission into effect.

Favors Federal Control.

"There is apparent to the judicious observer a distinct tendency on the part of our opponents to cloud the issue by raising the question of state as against federal jurisdiction. We are ready to meet that issue if it is forced upon us. But there is no hope for the plain people in such conflicts of jurisdiction.

"The essential question is not one of hair splitting legal technicalities. It is simply this: Who can best regulate the special interests for the public good?"

"Most of the predatory corporations are interstate or have interstate affiliations; therefore they are largely out of reach of effective state control and fall of necessity within the federal jurisdiction. One of the prime objects of those among them that are grasping and greedy is to avoid any effective control either by state or nation, and they advocate at this time state control simply because they believe it to be the least effective.

"In the great fight of the people to drive the special interests from the domination of our government the nation is stronger and its jurisdiction is more effective than that of any state. The most effective weapon against these great corporations, most of which are financed and owned on the Atlantic coast, will be federal laws and the federal executive.

"That is why I so strongly oppose the demand to turn these matters over to the states. It is fundamentally a demand against the interest of the plain people, of the people of small means, against the interest of our children and our children's children, and it is primarily in the interest of the great corporations, which desire to escape all government control.

Warning to the Congress.

"I heartily approve the attitude of any corporation, interested in the deliberations of a meeting such as this, which comes hither to advocate its own accredited agents views which it believes the meeting should have in mind. But I condemn with equal readiness the appearance of a corporate agent before any convention who does not declare himself frankly as such.

"This congress is a direct appeal to the patriotism of our whole people. The nation wisely looks to such gatherings for counsel and leadership. Let that leadership be sound, definite, practical and on the side of all the people. It would be no small misfortune if a meeting such as this should ever fall into the hands of the open enemies or false friends of the great movement which it represents.

"What this country needs is what every free country must set before it as the great goal toward which it works—an equal opportunity for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for every one of its citizens. To achieve this end we must put a stop to the improper political domination no less than the improper economic domination of the great special interests."

Following Colonel Roosevelt's speech were made by Miss Mabel Boardman, president of the American Red Cross society; Francis J. Heney of California; Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations; Governor Hadley of Missouri and George C. Pardee of California.

ARGUMENT GROWS HEATED

Governors Stubbs and Hay Get Into Controversy.

St. Paul, Sept. 6.—Governor Stubbs of Kansas "jumped on" Secretary Ballinger and scored the "Alaskan coal thieves" in a short speech at the conference of governors at the afternoon session of the conservation congress.

After the meeting Governor Hay of Washington engaged in a heated controversy with the Kansas executive, shaking his finger threateningly in the latter's face.

Governor Stubbs walked away laughing scornfully.

States' rights or federal control was the main theme of discussion.

Those in favor of national control were Noel of Mississippi, Stubbs of Kansas and Deneen of Illinois.

Those in favor of states' rights were Norris of Montana, Hay of Washington, Brooks of Wyoming and Vessey of South Dakota.

KILMARNOCK IS OUT AGAIN

Lord Who Was Accidentally Shot Rejoins Royal Hunt.

Aberdeen, Sept. 6.—Lord Kilmarnock, second secretary in the British diplomatic service, who was shot through the accidental discharge of a gun, is again able to rejoin the royal hunting party.

AMERICAN FIRST TO BE RECEIVED

President Diaz Greets Foreign Representatives.

Mexico City, Sept. 6.—President Diaz received in the hall of ambassadors in the national palace the special ambassadors appointed by the governments of the United States, Italy, Japan, Germany and China to attend the celebration of the Mexican centenary of Independence.

The United States, the first nation to acknowledge the independence of Mexico and the first to establish diplomatic relations with this republic, had first place in the ceremonies. Curtis Guild, Jr., of Massachusetts, the American special ambassador, was first introduced.

The visitors were driven to the national palace between a double line of soldiers. The buildings on both sides of the streets were gorgeously decorated with flags of all nations. The thousands of spectators who crowded the sidewalks cheered enthusiastically as the diplomats passed.

The reception by the president was a brilliant event. All the highest government officials, members of the cabinet, officers of the army and members of the diplomatic corps were present in the uniforms of their rank.

President Diaz, in his reply to the address of Ambassador Guild, expressed his appreciation of the cordial acceptance by the United States of the invitation extended by Mexico for this occasion and spoke of the cordial relations existing between the two countries.

Shot During Quarrel.

St. Paul, Sept. 6.—During a drunken quarrel in a house on Mill street, under the high bridge, Joseph Gaetroni was shot through the right arm at the elbow and through the abdomen by Joseph Defabia, who is held at the Central station charged with attempted murder. Gaetroni was reported as doing well at the City hospital and may possibly recover.

Cupid Closes Hotel.

Trempealeau, Wis., Sept. 6.—The Hotel Utter, the leading hostelry of this place, announces its indefinite suspension of business and assigns for a reason that all the girls who can be hired get married almost immediately, leaving the proprietor, R. Utter, without assistance. No other village of similar size has so many unmarried men.

Aged Man Drowned.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 6.—John Kolp, aged sixty-three years, was drowned and John Hartman narrowly escaped death in Lake Superior when a small boat was capsized near their club house. Kolp was dead when taken from the water. Hartman was unconscious, but was resuscitated.

RIOT OCCURS AT PORTLAND, ORE.

Police Have a Lively Fight With Paraders.

TEAMSTERS ARE ON STRIKE

And at Conclusion of Parade They Endeavor to Overturn a Dray and a Fierce Fight Follows—Over Seventy Thousand Persons in Line in New York—Labor Temple Dedicated at Pittsburg.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 6.—A riot in which 2,000 men were involved and as a result of which twelve arrests were made occurred at the conclusion of the Labor day parade.

The Teamsters' union is on strike and as the procession passed the office of a transfer company a few men ran out and tried to overturn a dray.

A score of bystanders joined them. Policemen rushed to the scene and fought the crowd for three blocks to land their prisoners in jail. Charges of inciting a riot were placed against the ringleaders.

FOR FIRST TIME IN YEARS

Workingmen of Pittsburg Hold a Parade.

Pittsburg, Sept. 6.—The dedication of a temple to the cause of labor was the vortex of the day's celebration—the most ostentatious the Pittsburg district has ever known. It is years since parades have marked the day in this section of the country, and as the 10,000 or more workmen marched through the center of the city, to many it was reminiscent of almost a score of years ago.

It was the acquisition of the building, formerly Shriners' temple, that was responsible for the celebration. Ten thousand men paraded previous to the dedication, at which Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, was the orator. He called upon his hearers "to use the power of the ballot to combat the attempts of capital to impose upon the laboring men unbearable conditions brought about by the enforcement of payments of dividends upon watered stock."

Mr. Morrison said that Joseph C. Sibley and John D. Rockefeller were labor's arch enemy, and declared that labor organizations had been deprived of their constitutional rights by the granting of injunctions and the application made by judges of the Sherman anti-trust law.

THOUSANDS OUT ON PARADE

Women a Feature of New York Spectacle.

New York, Sept. 6.—The Labor day parade here brought out more union marchers this year than have ever before been seen on Fifth avenue. Conspicuous among them were 3,100 women, most of them garment workers, wearing dark blue and yellow liberty caps and sashes. The leaders estimated there were 71,000 in line and the route was from Fifth avenue and Central park to Washington square.

For the first time in fifteen years the parade bore no appeal for aid in any strike. One of the largest the country has ever known has just been concluded and cloak and garment workers turned out in force to prove their joy and demonstrate their hate against the strike and the rule that any strike called to demand the closed shop is a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Two Persons Drowned.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 6.—Percy McGregor, a resident of Ottawa, Ont., and manager of the Winnipeg Young Men's Christian association summer camp on an island in the Lake of the Woods, was drowned while sailing. Miss Ballantyne of Kenora, Ont., also lost her life at the same time. It was the last day of the camp.

Hunter Shoots Himself.

Minneapolis, Sept. 6.—William F. Snow, a patent attorney, while hunting near Savage in company with Myrel Lavine, accidentally shot himself in the left cheek, causing the loss of an eye. The wounded man was removed to St. Barnabas hospital here, where the physicians hold out hopes for his recovery.

Eight Injured at Coney Island.

New York, Sept. 6.—The "double whirl" at Coney Island broke an axle and collapsed. Eight persons were seriously injured and two others painfully hurt. Nobody was killed. There was a panic on the grounds when the sound of rending iron was heard, but the disorder never grew beyond control.

Big Attendance at Fair.

St. Paul, Sept. 6.—The combination of Labor day and the presence of President Taft overcame the unfavorable weather Monday and caused an attendance at the state fair which probably will run over 90,000, counting paid admissions and employees, as has been the custom heretofore.

CRIPPEN SOMEWHAT BETTER

Man Accused of Elmore Murder Recovers Spirits.

London, Sept. 6.—Dr. Crippen, who is soon to be tried in the Bow street court for the murder of Belle Elmore, has somewhat recovered his spirits since his recent collapse.

Several interviews with his lawyer have served to put him in a more optimistic frame of mind.

Miss Ethel Le Neve, who is jointly accused, continues to show her usual composure.

The case has attracted more attention here than usual in several years.

BARNEY OLDFIELD
MAKES NEW RECORD

Lowers That Made by De Palma at St. Paul.

Brighton Beach, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Barney Oldfield, in his famous 200 horsepower Blitzen Benz, smashed two world's records for a mile circular track here.

In the first of the one-mile speed trials Oldfield tore around the track in :50.25, clipping 25 of a second from the record made by Ralph De Palma at St. Paul. In the second trial in the afternoon the Benz again won first place with :50.45, but Oldfield, not satisfied, got permission to attempt to lower his own record, and covered the mile in :49.45, bettering his mark set earlier in the day by 35 of a second.

George Robertson, who had a Simplex entered in every event against Oldfield, won the two one-hour races and both of the ten-mile races, but had to be satisfied with third honor in the one-mile trials against time, second place being won by Ben Kercher in a Darracq.

Woodsman Commits Suicide.

Beidjil, Minn., Sept. 6.—Tony McGuire, the maniac who on Aug. 25 narrowly missed killing Mayor Parker at the Parker lumber camp near Kellogg, when he rushed by the mayor and twice sank his axe into William Durkee, was found dead in the woods near Foy. McGuire's victim is in the hospital here in a serious condition. McGuire had cut his throat with a razor. Fear of starvation and capture is thought to have caused him to kill himself.

Lightning Kills Farmer.

Estherville, Ia., Sept. 6.—Knut Arnonson of Swan Lake township, a wealthy pioneer resident farmer of Emmet county, while lying on some hay in the barn on his farm while a thunder storm was in progress, was instantly killed by lightning.

WALKS 25 MILES DAILY.

Munich Waitress Finds Labor Is Strenuous Exercise.

One of the waitresses at a large restaurant and beer garden in Munich became curious as to the distance she was obliged to walk every day in serving the customers seated at her tables. To find out she counted the number of steps she took from 10 o'clock in the morning until midnight, when she went off duty. Her stride is twenty-seven and a half inches, and during her hours of duty she was compelled to take no less than 28,000 steps, or a distance of some twenty-five miles.

Commenting upon this fact, a German newspaper says that this represents an eight hour march and that it shows what hard tasks are now being performed by women when obliged to earn their own living.

DEFEATS ALL OF THE AMERICANS

A WOMAN'S HAT.

There's a Large Pot of Trouble Brewing For One Milliner.

Mr. Standish was mad when he went into the millinery establishment, and the longer he stayed the madder he got. Presently he walked over to a stunning black creation that hung on a peg near the window and said:

"This is the hat I want to see you about."

The proprietor came forward. "What can I do for you?" he asked. "You can fix this hat over the way my wife asked you to," said Standish explosively. "She wants the feather put on the other side, that bow moved to the front, and she wants the rim to bulge a little more over the temples."

Seeing a guilty flush creep over the proprietor's face, Standish went on with increased heat:

"She says you have refused to make any alterations on the ground that a stitch added to or subtracted from the hat is bound to ruin it, but I tell you that's all nonsense. My wife knows how she wants her hat to look, and if she can't stand up for her rights I'll do it for her. She is coming around this afternoon to try the hat on again. If it isn't ready by that time there will be no end of a row."

The proprietor twirled the black hat on his forefinger and looked from it to the head saleswoman lugubriously.

"I remember," he said, "that the lady who ordered that hat did bring it back yesterday to be remodeled. Perhaps it will be possible to make the alterations suggested after all."

The manager's humility made Standish feel very proud of himself.

"That's the only way to deal with these fellows," he said when he left the shop. "You've got to meet them on their own level. It takes a man to do that. No wonder women get cheated out of their very eyeteeth. They haven't got sand enough to say the things that have to be said to secure their rights."

Throughout the day Standish continued to revel in self congratulations, and he actually went home half an hour ahead of time to see if his wife's hat had been metamorphosed into the thing of beauty he had suggested.

"Well," said he jubilantly, "was the hat all right?"

"All right?" said Mrs. Standish. "They hadn't even touched it. How could you expect it to be all right when you didn't stop in to see about it?"

"But I did stop," protested Standish. "I saw everybody about the place and hid the whole establishment out in great shape. Here's their card to prove I was there. I picked it up as I was passing out."

Mrs. Standish took up the card and read the name aloud.

"O-o-o-h!" she cried. "Is that where you went? Why, you got into the wrong place. What on earth will that manager think? He must think you are crazy."

"I don't care if he does," said Standish limply. "but I would like to know what the owner of that black hat will say when she sees it made over according to my directions."—New York Herald.

Economical.

A good story is related of an English theatrical manager who by thrift and hard work had amassed a fortune. Previous to the production of one play the stage carpenters had to repair a trap, and the head carpenter went to the manager and informed him that it could not be done in the dark.

"Well, lad, these won't have 't' gas," answered the manager. "Here, tak' this and buy a candle."

And he handed him a halfpenny.

The carpenter pleaded that they wanted two in order to get sufficient light.

"How long will 't' job tak' thee?" asked the manager.

"About ten minutes," was the reply.

"Then cut 't' candle in two," was the answer. "Thee won't have any more money."

English Aviator Is First in Five Classes.

ON AN EXHIBITION FLIGHT

Claude Grahame-White Carries a New York Woman With Him and Encircles the Course Twice on the Trip. Englishman Makes Fastest Time and Gets Distance Record at Harvard-Boston Meet.

Boston, Sept. 6.—Claude Grahame-White of England proved himself the superior of all the aviators taking part in the second day's events of the Harvard-Boston aero meet at Atlantic, when he took first place in all five classes contested.

In addition, White gained plaudits repeatedly when, in exhibition flights, he demonstrated the hazardous feats of the men of the air in dipping and swooping and making short turns. He did this not only alone, but in one of his flights took Miss Mary Campbell of New York, and after twice circling the course in an easy manner gave her a thrill with a 200-foot slide down the wind to within ten feet of the ground from which elevation he dropped lightly onto the turf.

The best time of the day, made by White, was 5 1/2 miles in six minutes, one second, with a Bleriot.

White's distance record of the day was 45 miles, 617 feet, on which trip he was 1 hour, 16 minutes and 7 seconds in the air.

White in a Bleriot, Curtiss in his own machine, and Willard in another Curtiss competed in the speed contest of three laps of the mile and three-quarters course. White did it in 6 minutes, 1 second; Curtiss in 6 minutes, 31 seconds, and Willard in 7 minutes, 38 1/2 seconds.

There were eight entries in the duration contest, White winning out by remaining up 1 hour, 16 minutes and 7 seconds, while Johnstone was in the air 48 minutes, 54 1/2 seconds.

The five contestants in the distance event were obliged to allow first place to White, who made 45 miles, 617 feet, Johnstone being second with 26 miles, 3107 feet.

In the bomb-dropping contest White proved himself the star performer of the day, dropping two of his ten bombs directly into the funnel of the battleship, while all of his other shots hit some part of the deck.

On points to take Claude Grahame-White has 68, Glenn H. Curtis 27, Charles F. Willard 13, Ralph Johnstone 6 and Walter Brooks 2.

TRIES TO KILL HERSELF

Wisconsin Woman Endeavors to End Her Life in New York.

New York, Sept. 6.—In sight of thousands of pleasure seekers hurrying to the steamboats at the Battery or lounging on benches, Mrs. Anna Richter, fifty-nine years old, of Wausau, Wis., attempted to kill herself in Battery park.

With a sharp penknife she made three slashes at her left wrist, inflicting deep wounds from which the blood gushed in streams. Policeman Duffy was within a few feet of the woman and took the knife away from her before she had succeeded in severing the arteries in her arm. She fought desperately with the policeman and he was compelled to ask the assistance of two park attendants in order to fix a tourniquet on her arm. Dr. Vesson took her to Hudson street hospital, where it was said that she has about an even chance of recovery.

Mrs. Richter is the wife of a well to do florist of Wausau. She spent the summer at her old home in Vienna, returning Sunday on the Red Star liner Lapland. She traveled with Philip Michaels and his family, also of Wausau.

The Michaels said that Mrs. Richter had been acting strangely for a week. She continually spoke of fears of being arrested on arriving in Chicago. Watch was kept over her, but she eluded her friends.

GETS POPULAR DECISION

Al Kaufman Defeats Bill Lang of Australia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—Al Kaufman, the heavyweight of California, got the popular decision over Bill Lang, the Australian heavyweight. In only one round, the second, did the Australian show to advantage. From this round to the close of the fight Kaufman had all the advantage. The fight, as a spectacular exhibition, was disappointing.

In the fifth round Kaufman drove Lang to the ropes and had him in evident distress, but the Australian grabbed his heavy opponent and hung on long enough to save himself from a probable knockout.

Measles.

Measles is the most "catchable" of all the contagious diseases, says the Youth's Companion, but it is pretty well conceded that it can only be caught from a person who has it. It is not carried by the well. This being the case, its control should not be difficult. Every child who develops a somewhat violent attack of measles, with running eyes and all the usual symptoms of cold in the head, should be isolated for a day or two and watched for the development of the characteristic eruption. When this comes out it is certain the child has not a "cold," but has measles, and its isolation should be continued until the eruption has entirely ended.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"The Cow and the Moon"

The advance representative for "The Cow and the Moon" was in the city today arranging the details for its appearance here on Sept. 12, is in receipt of information from the company which is making its premier performance this evening at Racine, Wis., stating that nearly every seat in the house has been sold and that by certain time every seat will be sold. The company has been rehearsing in Racine for a week or more and evidently the play goes of that city have heard the pretty music and had a glimpse of the beautiful scenery and costumes during the rehearsals and are anxious to see a complete performance. It is a companion play of "The Cat and the Fiddle" which has been seen here the past two seasons and with Mr. Sellon and a company of forty it bids fair to repeat the success of "The Cat."

The First Iron Ship.

The first iron ship has more reputed birthplaces than Homer. Both the Clyde and the Mersey claim pre-eminence in this respect. Sir E. J. Robinson of Edinburgh designed an iron vessel in 1816, which was not launched till three years later, and it is said that an iron boat was worked on the Severn even as far back as 1787. Steel was not used in the construction of merchant ships' hulls until 1856. Old salts were not built in their belief that wood was meant by Providence to float, but iron to go to the bottom. A naval constructor of some repute once said: "Don't talk to me of iron ships. They are contrary to nature."—Chambers' Journal.

PICTURE SHOW IN COURT

Held on Charge of Not Having Proper Fire Apparatus in Their Place of Business

Saturday evening Chief of Police Quinn and Officer J. P. Barney entered the moving picture show in progress at 620 Front street and stopped the exhibition of a set of moving pictures which had been announced on advertising posters displayed on the building as being the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures. The police seized the films and took into custody C. F. Rogers, the ticket seller of Minneapolis, and Charles Germaine of Brainerd, the operator.

This morning these men were arraigned on a complaint sworn to by Chief of Police Quinn charging them as being the lessees of No. 620 Front street and that the building so used as a theatre and having a seating capacity of over 300 and in which theatre curtains, were used was not provided with a stand pipe running to the stage and had no hose connected with same and of sufficient length to reach all parts of the stage. The case was continued to this afternoon. W. A. Fleming represented the state and Mathias Baldwin of Baldwin & Murphy, of Minneapolis, appeared with J. Henry Long for the defense. This afternoon the case was continued to ten o'clock tomorrow morning and the defendants put up $50 each cash bail. Thomas F. Guthrie, president of the Co-operative Film Co., of Minneapolis, was in attendance at the trial.

The defendant had no attorney. He waived examination and was ordered to be held to await the action of the grand jury.

The bride had as her bridesmaid Miss Alma Schellin, and wore a dress of white silk carrying bride's roses. Ernest Brand being best man for Mr. Schellin. The short ring service of the Methodist church was used, the Rev. Charles Fox Davis reading its impressive lines.

After the ceremony a light luncheon was served to the company and an enjoyable time followed.

The bride is well known in this city having been for some time a waitress in McCabe's restaurant. Mr. Schellin resides on a farm in Platte Lake to which place the young couple went late today and at which place they will make their future home.

"Riverside Farm" at Sylvan, the picturesque home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Yde, situated on the banks of Crow Wing river, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Sunday on high noon, the contracting parties being their daughter Ellenora Christina, and Willis E. Lively, of Brainerd.

A very large company of relatives and friends witnessed the pleasing ceremony. The bride was handsomely gowned in blue silk with bridal veil, carrying bride's roses, and had as her bridesmaid her sister Clara. Mr. Lively was assisted by Jense Yde, a brother of the bride. The ceremony took place beside a profusely decorated bank of flowers, and the lines of the short ring service of the Methodist Episcopal church were read by the Rev. Chas. Fox Davis, with Mrs. Geo. A. Lively furnishing the music preceding and during the service.

Among the out of town guests were, Mrs. John Larson, R. A. Stendal, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan, and Mr. A. T. Lively, of Brainerd. Mr. Lively is one of Laurel street merchants of this city. They will make their future home in Brainerd, residing on North Broadway, and will be at home to their friends next week.

STARTLED THE PRESIDENT

Automobile Tire Explodes in Street and Startled Pres. Taft as he Delivered Address

AT CONSERVATION CONGRESS

Crow Wing County and the Cuyuna Iron Range in Evidence at the State Fair

A representative of the Dispatch visited St. Paul and Minneapolis Sunday and Monday and every minute of his time found something to attract his attention. Arriving in Minneapolis on the early morning train which carried over 20 Brainerd visitors he spent the day visiting friends. At Westminster church a most eloquent sermon was preached on labor.

In the afternoon occurred the big fire in the down town district where the Leader store and neighboring stores suffered a loss of $224,000. German Day was observed and a parade of 12,000 Germans with 15 bands marched through the down town streets. The only event to disturb the harmony of the day was the collapse of a stand which precipitated 300 members of the United Singers to the ground. They stood united, but they fell in a bunch. In the evening two theatres were visited and several of the attractions which the Grand has featured were found on the boards of Minneapolis popular play houses.

Monday morning the Auditorium at St. Paul was hastily visited. Here the great Conservation Congress was in progress. Western governors, prominent men in all walks of life were there in abundance. Every seat was taken and even the aisles were crowded. We came late but managed to eventually get a good seat to the rear of the speaker's stand. After the invocation came the address of Governor Eberhart, who lauded the state of Minnesota and its bounteous resources. His voice was clear and ringing, and it was good to see our youthful executive among the elderly gray haired men on the speaker's rostrum. All his points were most liberally applauded and when he finished he was given an ovation. He was followed by the nation's executive, President Taft, who spoke in clear tones. His address made an appeal to the common sense of his audience.

In the middle of his speech there was the loud report of an explosion. An automobile tire had burst in the street in the rear of the auditorium with a report like a pistol shot. President Taft stopped abruptly and half turned in the direction of the noise. Secret service men at his elbow arose. The audience thought of a would-be assassin. The president continued his speech and the incident was soon forgotten.

In concluding his address the president made a plea for common sense and fair play in the handling of matters entrusted to the Conservation Congress. The time for eloquence and speech making was past. What was needed was intelligent action. When a man addressed the congress let him not omit the details of how many of these great reforms were to be brought about. Let him tell how this was to be accomplished. He was given a perfect ovation when he concluded.

He spoke at the state fair in the afternoon and was listened to with the greatest of attention. His automobile was preceded by a detachment of regular cavalry of company E.

We found Col. Thorpe's exhibit in a booth near the north entrance of Agricultural hall adjoining the wool-growers exhibit. His neighbor was Herman Busse, of Morrison county who shared the booth with him and had an individual display like Mr. Thorpe's. Under a huge banner headed, "Crow Wing County, Corn and Clover Exhibit, Grown by Thorpe's New Method," was found a fine display of nine foot corn, of clover, grapes and plums. His ears of Dent corn were specially admired, and his plums, as many of the visitors assured me, were about the only plums on exhibition and the finest ever seen. Mr. Busse had on display samples of grain and produce raised on a 40 acre farm. His wife had charge of this exhibit and also kept a watchful eye on the colonel's exhibit.

The United States Steel Corporation had a large exhibit in this same hall, and the ore display was specially comprehensive, embracing specimens from our Cuyuna. A large map gave the topography of the Vermillion, Missaba and Cuyuna ranges. In the Cuyuna map the cities of Brainerd, Crosby, Cuyuna, Deerwood and Aitkin were mentioned in letters any one could read.

At the treasurer's office was found M. T. Dunn, the treasurer of the state fair with his 62 assistants and the money seemed to roll into this place in a perfect stream of silver. Here were also seen Messrs. Underwood and Cosgrove, president and secretary respectively of this greatest of fairs whose first day's attendance was estimated to reach 100,000.

Mrs. Jacob Wilmet, Lincoln, Ill., found her way back to perfect health. She writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble and backache and my appetite was very poor at times. A few weeks ago I got Foley's Kidney Pills and gave them a fair trial. They gave me great relief, so continued till now I am again in perfect health." For sale by all druggists. mwf

RECALL OF LAGERKRANTZ

Various Reasons Given for Return to Sweden of the Minister to Washington—Emigration From Norway to the United States Receives a Fresh Impetus—Socialist Congress at Copenhagen Criticizes Colonel Roosevelt.

SWEDEN.

Various reasons have been given for the recall of the Swedish minister to the United States. One is that in an address at a banquet in New York he spoke indiscreetly regarding American politics. Another story is that he is retiring voluntarily because he finds the cost of living too high in the United States. Still another reason given is that his business interests in Vastmanland and Dalarna are so extensive that he cannot afford to spend any more time in Washington. Be all this as it may, Herman de Lagerkrantz has given up his post in Washington and another man will be selected for his place in the very near future. A great many people believe that Herr Lagerkrantz will be selected to succeed Lagerkrantz. Mr. Lagerkrantz, who has held the post at Washington during the past three years, was born in 1859 and received a university education. He entered the army while still a young man and was for a number of years an officer in the Swedish army. In 1889 he took up Salvation Army work in London and General Booth thought that he was such a splendid organizer that he sent him to Holland, Germany and England, and later on, for a year or two he continued his Salvation Army work in India. Owing to ill health he resigned from this kind of work and in 1896 he purchased a lumber plant at Virsbo, in Vastmanland, for which he paid 400,000 crowns. Since that time he has been expanding at a rapid rate. While at Washington Mr. and Mrs. Lagerkrantz were very popular and no former Swedish minister has commanded so much attention in Washington as Herr Lagerkrantz. Two years ago he made an extensive tour through the Northwestern states and made several excellent addresses during that journey.

Richard Gustafsson, the publisher of the humorous paper known as Kasper, celebrated his seventieth birthday the other day. He was the recipient of hundreds of congratulatory telegrams from all parts of the country and an elaborate banquet was held in his honor. Mr. Gustafsson, who will now retire from active duties in connection with his paper, will be succeeded by his son, A. M. Gustafsson.

The Mission union (Forbundet) of Sweden paid out in all 469,767 crowns for mission purposes during the past year. Of this amount 121,554 crowns were given to inner mission work, while 317,268 crowns were given to foreign missions. The union is supporting mission work in Congo, China, Russia, Caucasus, Persia, East Turkestan and Lapland. It has 122 active laborers in the foreign mission fields.

NORWAY.

Emigration to America, which during the past few weeks has been comparatively small, has received a fresh start again, says the Verdens Gang. During the first six months of the present year about 15,000 Norwegians, chiefly young men and women, have emigrated to America and Canada. This is far in excess of last year's emigration for the same period. There are about 5,000 Norwegians in Canada at present, but Norwegian emigration to that country seems to be increasing very rapidly. Over 20 per cent of the emigrants are women. About 6,000 Norwegian-Americans during the past summer have visited Norway and it is estimated that they spent at least 4,000,000 crowns. The Verdens Gang adds that "these American people all seem prosperous and intelligent looking."

Leon Marcher, who left New York some time ago with a woman after having robbed his employer in that city of $5,000, was captured in Norway the other day in the little idyllic town of Holmestrand, where he was placed in jail. The Christiania police had been scouring the country for him for several weeks and were glad to know that they at last had succeeded in arresting the man and bringing him to justice. His stay in the jail at Holmestrand was of a very short duration, however. The jailkeeper had forgotten to lock the door and after Marcher had been in there only three hours he skipped out through the main door and now the police and Christiania detectives are looking in vain for him.

The German Spitzbergen expedition aboard the steamer Carmen returned from Tromsø the other day and all the members of the expedition were in excellent health and spirits. The expedition found large masses of ice eighty miles west of Velsund. The steamer Mainz has visited King's bay, where it met the Isaacsen's expedition, which was taking deep water measurements. The Zeppelin expedition was also encountered and the latter aboard the Phoenix will also go as far north as Spitzbergen.

The contemplated Christiania exposition, which will be held in 1914, will, according to the calculations and estimates of the architects, entail an expenditure of about 3,000,000 crowns. Sweden and Denmark will be well represented at this exposition and Sweden contemplates erecting a large industrial exposition building, which will be one of the largest on the big exposition grounds. Norway's fisheries exhibition will be one of the great features of the big fair.

Norway's export and import business last year amounted to not less than 614,400,000 crowns. Of this sum the imports amounted to 366,400,000 and the exports to 248,000,000, thus leaving a surplus on the imports amounting to 118,400,000 crowns. This is a splendid showing and Norway is way ahead of Sweden when it comes to the export and import business, comparatively speaking.

The secretary to the Norwegian legation in Berlin, Michael Lie, has been appointed Norway's representative to Mexico and Cuba, and will from now on serve as consul general for the two countries. Mr. Lie has been in the foreign service for a number of years and is well qualified to fill the position in question.

The thief who stole a large pocket-book at the Christiania Credit bank, containing 11,400 crowns, besides a number of checks, is believed to have escaped to some northern town in Sweden. A reward of 1,000 crowns has been offered for his capture. The vicinity of Jæland. While making the ascent, however, he fell, glided down the glacier and disappeared. About two days afterwards a searching party succeeded in finding his body in a terribly mangled condition at the foot of the glacier.

DENMARK.

Says a Copenhagen dispatch: Former president Roosevelt came in for a raking incidental to the discussion of anti-militarism at the session Aug. 31 of the International Socialist congress. Several speakers turned their guns on the American, the most bitter attack being made by George Ledebour, a Socialist member of the German reichstag, who described him as a "political drummer." Among other things Herr Ledebour said: "He has forgotten that he represents a democratic nation whose existence was due to a revolution. Shame on him for joining the British rulers against Egyptian patriots." On the general subject of anti-militarism so many conflicting opinions developed that the congress was in a constant turmoil. The committee on international disarmament were unable to agree among themselves.

The composer and musician, Carl Lumbye, is dead. He was a son of the celebrated Hans Christian Lumbye, the famous Danish composer. Carl Lumbye was for a number of years first violinist in his father's orchestra at the Tivoli gardens and of later years he has been its director and was as such very popular with the Copenhagen audiences. He wrote a number of waltzes, which are very popular. He attained an age of sixty-nine years.

Dr. Max Henius of Chicago, who has been making an extensive European tour this summer, is trying to arrange an international brewery exhibition in Copenhagen next summer. Dr. Henius is also heading a petition of Danish Americans the purpose of which will be to donate a large sum of money to the homeland for the purpose of establishing a national park.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Danish People's museum was celebrated Aug. 8 and some of the best educated men and women of Copenhagen attended the festivities which were held in connection. Lund University of Sweden sent a representative and there was also present a representative from the University of Leipzig.

I. C. Christensen, who has recently visited Stansen in Stockholm, is now planning to establish a similar national open air museum for Denmark. He would locate the same in Copenhagen not far from where the Swedish church is located.

A school for journalists has been opened in Copenhagen. It starts out in good hands and is backed up with a substantial appropriation from the government.

FINE LEGAL WORK

The Drawing Up of a Big Mortgage a Serious Matter.

CLOSE ANALYSIS OF WORDS.

Where the Document is to Be Used as a Basis For an Issue of Bonds an Expert on Definitions is Employed—Big Expense and Big Fees Involved.

Drawing up a big mortgage, especially when it is to be the basis for an issue of bonds, is a task far greater than most people have any idea of. Sometimes months of continuous labor elapse between the beginning of the first draft and the final approval of the last revised copy by those most directly concerned. The primary object of such a formidable legal instrument is, of course, to define clearly and exactly what the mortgagee will do. The individual or company in whose favor the mortgage is drawn, however, through his attorney seeks to protect himself from every possible contingency. Some of these possibilities that are sought to be guarded against appear to be absurd to the lay mind.

Some years ago a boat line whose vessels plied on a certain river desired to mortgage its property and issue bonds. One of the provisions of the legal instrument provided what should be done in the event of the river drying up or becoming impossible to navigate. As the stream was a mighty flood of water at all seasons, the possibility of this contingency arising seemed out of all reason, but the attorney for the mortgagee insisted upon its insertion. Nothing has happened to the river as yet.

The commonest weakness of a mortgage and one that may escape the ordinary eye is not the use of the wrong word to express the desired meaning, but the use of not exactly the right one. After the mortgage has been worked into shape so that its provisions are satisfactory to both sides the lawyers who draw the mortgage in the first instance prepare a list of words about whose meaning they fear there may be some dispute and turn this list over to the expert etymologist who is in charge of the library in every big office. This man prepares a report which shows not only the dictionary definition of each one of these words, but also furnishes a list of all legal decisions that have been made relative to its exact significance. This expert, being advised of the particular shade of meaning it is desired to convey, also furnishes an opinion as to what is the right word, supporting his statement by a list of such legal decisions as may apply. All these reports are carefully bound together and become a part of the mass of papers, sometimes weighing many pounds, that accumulates while the mortgage is being drawn. They are filed away when it is finished.

After the mortgagee's counsel have completed drawing up the instrument as they think it should be it passes to the attorneys on the other side, who pick as many flaws as possible in it. They, too, pay special attention to the exact meaning of words, and frequently their experts question the definitions of those on the other side. After the two firms of attorneys have settled all their differences the mortgage is generally submitted to another set of expert legal advisers, who criticize it from every possible point of view. All this takes a great deal of time and costs a great deal of money.

The total legal expense of drawing up a big corporation mortgage frequently runs into more than a hundred thousand dollars. It is not uncommon for a single firm of experts to receive as high as $50,000 for criticizing and correcting one of these important legal documents. When it has been tested in every possible way and is finally passed upon and approved it is printed. It may cover between 100 and 200 pages and contain from 40,000 to 80,000 words. The latter is about the number in a novel of the ordinary size. If the interests affected have property in more than one county or state the mortgage has to be recorded in each of these.

It is not until all this work has been done that the bonds secured by the mortgage are placed on the market.—T. S. Dayton in New York Tribune.

MARBLE DEMAND HURTS ART.

French Sculptors Blame American Builders For Scarcity.

French sculptors are complaining that marble has become very expensive and that they find it almost impossible to obtain large blocks, even at the present high prices. America is blamed for this state of affairs.

For many years the export of marble to the United States has increased enormously. The great hotels, office buildings and magnificent houses of America have monopolized the output of Carrara at prices which France cannot meet.

Carrara reserves a certain proportion of its marble for Italian artists, and the rest goes to America. France has some marble quarries of her own, in the Haute Garonne, but they belong to an English company, which sells the best blocks to America.

That the difficulty felt by French sculptors is a real one is shown by the complaint of the sculptor Bartholome that he cannot begin work on his monument to Jean Jacques Rousseau in the Pantheon on account of lack of the necessary material.

A German Legend.

The Germans have a legend of Frederick Barbarossa that he is not dead, but in an enchanted sleep, sitting with his knights at a marble table in the cavern of Kyffhausen, in the Harz mountains. His long red beard has grown during this long enchantment and, covering the table, descends to the floor, and he sits thus waiting the moment that will set him free. There he has been kept for long centuries. There he must stay for ages.
